PRESIDING

Lion President Jim McLaughlin presided and Lion Roy Minor offered the invocation.

Presentations

On the occasion of chairing his last luncheon meeting, Lion President Jim McLaughlin presented Certificates of Service to many a Lion of note and distinction, for participation in the activities and operation of the Club and its major fund raiser, the Concours d'Elegance. Thereafter, he presented the rather more weighty Gavel of Thor to our incoming President, Lion Charles Nelson. Lion Chaz is reported to be pumping iron in hopes of being able to lift this weighty relic of responsibility.

Peninsula Council

Our Lion Thomas also presided over his last meeting as president of the Peninsula Council of Lions. His achievements:

The Police and Fire Awards were bigger and better than ever. Attendance was up - both greater and more diverse than during the recent past.

Growing links to the San Francisco Council of Lions.

Less easily measured, but perhaps most important, there were always lots of folks with real smiles having a real great time just being there. Fun and Accomplishment - an unstoppable combo.

Visitation

The Clan Lion Hattrup came visiting this week, so a group of us made time for a special lunch gathering at the University Club. Lion Dick was spry and looking ahead to yet another full life. He hopes to be in our bit of the savanna now and again, and plans to attend our meetings whenever he can.

DOOR PRIZE

The Door Prize, an artistic lion, donated by Nell Richmond, was won by Jim Steiner. Future door prizes July 6 - Charles Nelson; July 13 - Don Douglas; July 20 - Jim McLaughlin; July 27 - Dolores Chappell; Aug. 3 - Elva Bacigalupi.
